It is innate in the human experience to reach out to others. We have a deep need at a spiritual and emotional level to reach out and connect and to share our reality and experiences with other. Unfortunately in our current society, our ability to connect with others is often wounded or damaged, whether it be in a family, romantic, social or work setting.

We are emotionally wired towards an inclination to group into tribes and associations. The current scientific thinking, as well as traditional shamanic healing, emphasizes the importance of groups to witness, support and facilitate deep healing of the individual. Richard offers a profound healing process via the safe and supportive container of a group of like-minded individuals who come together to heal and to support and witness others healing. We facilitate a deep bodymind process of cognitive realization, family constellation work, coupled with deep affective body energy release, using psychodynamics, voice dialogue and other techniques to undo blocks in the body energy and musculature, correct distortions in thinking and behavioural patterns and heal psychosomatic illness from emotional and energetic causes.

This group is open to participants sincerely committed to self exploration, who desire to further their evolutionary process. Richard will facilitate the evolution of your process. While in "Process", you will work on specific issues that you may struggle with everyday. If you have not dealt with the issues beforehand, even though you have worked on them, then perhaps you were not ready then. Or the issue may have layers and now is your time to go deeper. You will be guided by Richard and supported by the group in a way that honours your soul and keeps you safe. You will gain inner strength, confidence and power. Your heart will open and your life and vitality will expand even more.

For someone new to Integrative Body Mind Psychotherapy, it is necessary to be interviewed initially by the facilitator.
